

You cannot let xo communications get away with screwing us shareholders out of this "restructuring". They gave us no warning on going bk, instead the boasted on how they were joining with Microsoft and other companies to "sucker" people in. They knew exactly what they were doing and tried to cover this up after Enron went down. This a big problem in America and once again the common shareholders gets shit... again. What ever happen to college fund, cars for kids, etc. One example of how the rich get richer. I lost my life savings over this... something has to be done
